A producer is a person or company who makes something.

Some producers are very famous!
Can you name producers who make these goods?

You may never know the producers, but you are lucky they are making products for you!

Sometimes it takes more than one producer to make a good we need!

2.

The mill takes the wheat and produces flour.

3.

The baker takes the flour and produces your bread.

1.

The farmer produces the wheat.

4.

You eat the bread!

A consumer is a person who buys goods and pays for services.

Why do
consumers
need goods and services?

On the following slides...

Who is the producer?

Who is the consumer?

Remember:

A producer makes goods.

A consumer buys goods and pays for services.
